

MASTER SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCEMENT

As part of the joint project between Ghent University (Belgium) and Nong Lam University HCMC (Vietnam), titled “Unravelling the Health Risks of Fish-Borne Nematodes in Southern Vietnam: Embedded in Capacity Building and Stakeholder Engagement”, Can Tho University serves as one of the key partners in the Mekong Delta. To support the implementation of this project in the region, we are supporting for a Master’s research with the following details:

Master’s Position at Can Tho University (Faculty of Veterinary Medicine)

- Sponsor: VLIR-UOS
- Monthly Stipend: 10,000,000 VND
- Study Period: September 2025 – August 2027
- Location: Can Tho University, Vietnam
- Start Date: September 2025

Eligibility Criteria

- General:
 - Vietnamese nationality
 - Under 35 years of age
- Academic:
 - Bachelor’s degree in Veterinary Medicine or Aquaculture
 - Strong academic background and high motivation
 - Interest in food safety, aquaculture, and fishborne parasitic diseases
 - Willingness to work in both field and laboratory settings
- Language:
 - Minimum IELTS score of 5.5 or equivalent

Research Focus

- Assessing health risks associated with the use of marine trash fish in aquaculture
- Investigating the potential transmission of zoonotic parasites
- Supporting sustainable and safe aquaculture practices

Benefits

- Official enrollment as a Master’s student at Can Tho University
- Financial support to cover living expenses

- Opportunities for interdisciplinary research and fieldwork
- Mentorship from experienced academics and professionals
- Potential for international collaboration and networking
-

Application Requirements

- Curriculum Vitae (CV)
- Certificate and diploma
- Motivation Letter
- Deadline: 10 Aug 2025

Contact for More Information

Dr. Châu Thị Huyền Trang (Email: cthtrang@ctu.edu.vn)

Dr. Nguyễn Hồ Bảo Trân (Email: nhbtran@ctu.edu.vn)